COMMUNITY ACTIVITIES

NEW SHABBAT EVENING SERVICE SCHEDULE—An Experiment

Starting in January, all Friday night Shabbat services will be held in the Sanctuary at BJ's 88th Street synagogue. The new times for these services are 5:30PM and 7:15PM. There will be no changes to the Shabbat morning service time or location.

The Family Kabbalat Shabbat service and Wandering Minyan will still be held at the early services on the first Friday of the month EXCEPT in February when the Family Service and Wandering Minyan will not take place.

We will try this new schedule for 3 months, from January through March, 2006. No matter what the outcome, the early service will begin at 6PM in April because of Daylight Savings Time.

• Join Us at the BJ Morning Minyan

See the latest information about the Morning Minyan on the BJ website at www.bj.org/schedule.php, where you can indicate which days you're planning to attend. You can also see how many people have signed up for the current week—and where our need is greatest.

TORAH FACT

Your Own Piece Of Our Sefer Torah: According to Rabbi Mendy Hecht, the Sefer Torah is the heart, mind and soul of Judaism. As the scroll is taken around the sanctuary, we touch it and then kiss our fingers to bring the sacred text closer to our souls. When that Sefer Torah is the one written for us at BJ, we will have an even deeper connection. Rabbis say that if a person writes even one letter of the Torah, it is as if that person has written the entire scroll.

You can write that one letter by committing to a piece of text in our new Sefer Torah. Commemorate a special occasion or mark a memorial for someone special. See P.3 for information about Beit Midrash sessions led by our rabbis to help each of us find our own Torah.

Another way to choose a meaningful piece of Torah is by visiting www.hebcal.com/converter/, where you can convert a Gregorian to a Hebrew date and find its corresponding past or future Torah portion.

MASA'EINU—OUR JOURNEY

As BJ turns 180, each week the Kol Jeshurun will feature an anecdote about our history. Much of the information is gleaned from A Century of Judaism in New York by Rabbi Israel Goldstein, who served this congregation for many years in the last century.

... A growing insistence upon decorum resulted in a series of resolutions adopted around 1860. These include: "that Kohanim must repeat the blessings word for word after the hazzan without singing or chanting" and rigid fines were imposed for talking during services. One member was fined $25.00 for creating a disturbance and giving offense to the usher.

GENERAL INFORMATION

WELCOME TO B'NAI JESHURUN! If you are unfamiliar with our services, see our "Welcome to BJ" brochure at the back of the sanctuary, or ask an usher.

- Membership at B'nai Jeshurun: Are you considering joining BJ? Would you like information about becoming a member? BJ is also pleased that visitors choose to connect with us when they are in town. Why don't you consider joining our community as a BJ Friend? Contact Membership Director Belinda Lasky at x224 or blasky@bj.org

- A Note from the Ushers: For those at the Friday night service at 88th St., please bring your books to the back as you leave. Place damaged books or tallitot in the boxes at the back of the sanctuary. We ask that men wear kippot upon entering the sanctuary and during services. We do not allow food in the sanctuary. So that we may prepare for the comfort and security of all, doors open 30 minutes before the services begin.

FOCUS ON ISRAEL

The "Focus on Israel" column presents information about our Israeli partnerships, texts and commentary on Israel, book reviews, and discussions of education, spirituality, and social justice in Israel.

ISRAELI PRESS COVERAGE OF BJ TRIP
By Robin Fleischner

On January 9, 2006, Ha aretz, a leading Israeli newspaper, published an article about the historic Kabbalat Shabbat service which BJ and seven partner Israeli communities held during our trip to Israel. Journalist Yuval Ben-Ami wrote:

"Eduardo Shoval...after years of hi-tech entrepreneurship felt a spiritual loss, and the idea of a childhood friend, Marcelo Bronstein, helped him resolve it.... His suggestion to Shoval was this: Search for your Jewish roots.

Shoval and his friends founded the community of Hochmat Halev—not a religious minyan (quorum) in the traditional sense, but a group of secular people in Ramat Hasharon who are working together to develop their awareness of Judaism.... Shoval and Bronstein met again over the last few weeks, this time as partners in an original enterprise. Bronstein came to Israel with his two co-rabbis at Congregation B'nai Jeshurun in Manhattan—Roly Matalon and Felicia Sol—and 180 members of the congregation. Shoval represented one of seven Israeli alternative communities that maintain contact with B'nai Jeshurun. The purpose of the visit was to foster the ties between the Israeli communities and the one in New York—and perhaps more important, for the Israeli groups to make contact with each other.

On the sixth night of Hanukkah, the B'nai Jeshurun members and those of the Israeli congregations met at the Beit Lessin Theater in Tel Aviv... The theater hall was totally packed....

How do the members of the Israeli congregations, who vacillate on the question of their religious identity, deal with the American presence? First off, they welcome the guests with love and joy.

'Whether directly or indirectly, BJ has created a sort of openness to appropriating Jewish ritual that is not obligated to halacha,' Galit Kedem, a member of Beit Tefila Yisraeli, said at the candle-lighting ceremony. 'They do it with a great deal of creativity and diverse self-expression.'

Did Kedem feel tension between the different people at the meeting?

'Inspirational tension,' she said."

The "Focus on Israel" column is edited by Robin Fleischner, Co-Chair of BJ's Israel Steering Committee (robin.fleischner@verizon.net).
